By Arthur Brisbane

PRESIDENT JORDAN, president emeritus of Stanford University, is for Hoover, whom he describes as earnest, brilliant, possessing knowledge; that the country needs a good American.

What is a good American? Herbert Hoover's name is a good answer. He is a good American, has proved it, and his Americanism is based on experience. He has traveled widely over the world, extending his profession as an engineer, in China, in Europe, and where he went, he succeeded.

In his visits abroad Herbert Hoover learned as Benjamin Franklin did, in France and in England, just why this is the best country, why Americans are fortunate in being born Americans. He doesn't have to guess about it. He knows.

Born in the West, Mr. Hoover studied in California, which has been his residence for a great many years. He went abroad as engineering capital, went in the old days of American shipping as an engineer, because that was his business. He went to work at his profession. The more he saw of other countries, the better American he became.

Herbert Hoover, as head of the Department of Commerce, attacked the British monopoly that regulate world price of rubber and made millions of Americans pay double for tires. It was Hoover that forced the British combination to reduce the price of rubber, so every tire maker will testify. That attack on the British monopoly, which was sending hundreds of millions of American dollars into British pockets, did not please Britain. But it was a good thing for the United States, and it showed the sort of American that Hoover is.

Mr. Hoover's work in dealing with the Mississippi disaster, which President Coolidge instructed him to "do what a man would do," was that of a profoundly learned and unselfish man, willing to sacrifice comfort, time and energy to hard work in great emergency.

Mr. Hoover understands great national improvements that his country needs. Boulder Dam, canal from the Great Lakes to the ocean and Gulf, and he would be able to do the work that the country needs done.

Herbert Hoover, when he talks about America, knows what he is talking about. When he talks of other countries, informing American business men as to opportunities for selling American goods abroad, he is discussing matters that he understands. Thousands of business men will testify to the good that Mr. Hoover has done as the head of the Department of Commerce.

An overwhelming majority of those that voted for President Coolidge, electing him with millions of votes to spare, would like to vote for him again, since he has only been elected once and would be running for a second, not a third, election term, in 1932. But the President has decided, and millions that know they cannot have Coolidge will be delighted to have Hoover, a good American.

General Motors says it is not going to make airplanes. This column predicts that General Motors eventually will make airplanes. Messrs. Loon, Dupont and their able engineers and situations superintendents will not remain out of that which is destined to be the world's most important, and perhaps greatest, industry.

A few years ago, Henry Ford told this writer, "The airplane is not a commercial success, and I am not going into it." Ford's statement that the automobile was not a commercial success either, when he made his first, little gasoline buggy, Mr. Ford. Please Turn to Page 34, Column 2.

GLEASON'S LIFE HOPES SOAR AFTER GOVERNOR PAYS HIM SECRET CALL

A secret midnight visit to the state prison was made last night by Governor Fuller and he talked with Herbert J. (Baby Face) Gleason for nearly an hour, it leaked out today.

Excepting that Gleason, 21-year-old condemned youth who must die next week unless intervention comes, revealed the midnight visit to his counsel, John W. Connelly, and his father, Joseph Gleason, it might never have become known.

"They who me up and I got dressed," he told his father and the lawyer, "I didn't know where I was going, but two officers took me through the corridors to the warden's office."

"There I met a nice looking man who was kind to me. I didn't know who he was until he introduced himself as Governor Fuller."

"He talked with me for 15 minutes. He asked me all kinds of questions and he was very nice to me."

"Most of the questions were about my companions and how long I had been there. And he asked me who

Minnie Tops Milk and Fat Record for Maine

Orono, Me., March 8 (AP)—By producing 512 pounds of fat from 11,747 pounds of milk in 365 days, "Minnie's Golden Flora," a two-year-old Jersey owned by the University of Maine, broke the state record for both fat and milk production in the under two-year-old class here.

Prof. L. B. Corbett, head of the department of animal husbandry in making this announcement today, said the university now had exceeded the former state milk record by more than 100 pounds and the fat record by 17 pounds, the former record having been made by two different cows.

RUTH ELDER PILOTS PLANE OVER BOSTON WITH GREAT SKILL

Ruth Elder, famous aviatrix, got back to her favorite element today and piloted an airplane over Boston.

With a Boston Evening American representative as a passenger, and with Louis Kralin, pilot of the Boston Airport Corporation, as her guide, she made the course of a big business-Detroit auto plane and flew over the city in the midst of an inclement atmosphere.

The girl whose "thrilling" flight ended when her ship plunged into the water, and who is at present filing an application at Lowell's state theatre, was like a child who Please Turn to Page 2, Column 4.

POISON KILLS BOSTON MAN'S WIFE IN PARIS

The beautiful Mrs. Sophy Wheeler of Boston is dead. In Paris, victim, police say, of poison received under mysterious circumstances in the hotel room of her husband, Sumner Crosby, wealthy insurance dealer, from Paris, she was estranged.

Mrs. Crosby died in a Paris hospital without regaining consciousness 15 hours after she was discovered. Crosby's crime, unconscious use of the floor of his room.

RODMAN WANAMAKER DIES SUDDENLY AT 65

Allentown, Pa., March 8 (AP)—Rodman Wanamaker of New York and Philadelphia died at the Venable Hotel, "Back Hill," at 1230 o'clock this morning from pneumonia.

With him at the time of death were his son, Captain John Wanamaker, and his daughter, Mrs. Amanda Wanamaker Mann, and his physician, Dr. David Benner, of Allentown, Pa.

VULTURE HIS MARINE AIRPLANE, KILLING 2

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.
MANAGERS, Nicaragua, March 8 (AP)—That is, mortal case, William C. Byrd and Sergeant Paul A. Frankforter were brought to Managua at sunset by a Police transport, 20 miles less than three hours after a Nicaraguan vulture shot a 20 plane in which they were about to land at San Juan, and crash to the ground and killing both the pilot and observer instantly.

The bodies will be sent here on the next homeward bound naval vessel and will probably leave Corinto tomorrow.

Investigation of the accident indicates that hitting the vulture was the cause. Swarms of these hideous, awkward scavengers hover over the fields and valleys of Nicaragua. They are especially numerous and troublesome to aviators around San Juan, where they have hit Please Turn to Page 12, Column 2.

Fight for Mother as Baby Born 'Dead' Lives

Baby Charma, born dead but restored to life by Boston firemen with an inhalator, is as normal as any other infant today, but doctors and nurses are fighting another grave battle to save the mother.

The child was alternately howling and garbling and sleeping, like any other "new baby," at the Evangelical Booth Maternity Hospital in West Newton st., while in another ward its mother struggled for life.

The new bundle of humanity, a girl, is the child of Mrs. and Mrs. Louis Charma of Dorchester, Mass.

LEACH IS ACQUITTED IN $100,000 HUB HOLDUP

Isadore Leach of Dorchester was today found not guilty of robbery while armed in the $100,000 jewelry theft from the Carl H. Skinner store, Joynton st., in August, 1924.

The jury was out 11 hours, returning their verdict sealed at midnight. Leach was also found not guilty of being an accessory before the fact.

The case was a practical one, much as Leach was first arrested on an alleged accessory seven months after the robbery. He was not Please Turn to Page 2, Column 4.

The proposal, if approved, is expected to give more radio stations to Southern states and diminish the number now existing in Northern and Western areas.

In addition to the Davis proposal, the House also must pass upon another amendment approved by its committee, which would place a three-month limit on the validity of broadcasting licenses and a six-month limit upon all other radio licenses. The Senate proposed six months and a year, respectively.

Legault said McDonald has decided to shoulder all the guilt in a final effort to save his wife's life.

"I have not heard from McDonald," Legault said, "but I shall not go to see him until I have presented my plea to the minister of justice on March 13 in Ottawa."

Legault said McDonald probably is ready to give his version of the crime, but declared he wished to explore chances for securing a new trial for his two clients before proceeding along any other line.

her Brooklyn home by a nephew, Leon Gottlieb. Her head had been crushed by a soda water bottle which was found near her body. The assailant robbed her of jewelry valued at $1,160. Gottlieb and the woman's husband, Herman Brumer, were questioned. Detectives also sought two men who boarded at the house.

Mrs. Brumer's fox terrier dog, "Footsie," was beaten by the slayer. The dog, which apparently had attacked its mistress's assailant, was found locked in the bathroom.

London, March 9.—(INNS)—Great Britain's naval estimates for 1923 total $285,500,000, a reduction of nearly $5,000,000 from the 1921 estimate. The 1923 estimate was given to Parliament today by First Lord of the Admiralty William C. Churchill.

The building program calls for $81,195,255 and provides for construction of 10 battle cruisers, 10 destroyers, four submarines and six smaller vessels.

Churchill said the "continued phylloxera of the general navy" warrants economy.

With $9,000 pounds of fish aboard the fishing schooner William L. Putnam, inbound bound to the fishing port of Gloucester, Mass., from Georges Bank, near the Canadian border, the schooner was struck by a 100-ton freighter.

The catch was valued at more than $5,000.

Charles Ivor Colson and his crew of 14 remained aboard in no danger. The Boston Towboat Co. rushed a tug to the scene and made strenuous efforts to pull her off. The Putnam is owned by the Gorton-Putnam Co., of Gloucester.

An accident happened when the tug was being towed back to the harbor. The tug's bow was struck by the freighter's stern. The tug's bow was damaged and the freighter's stern was damaged.

There is truth in a report that Japan is negotiating with the Soviet for concessions in Siberia and exploitation of resources of North Manchuria. The government, however, denied this today and said that Japan was not in a position to advance loans to the Soviet or any other foreign power as Japan herself needs capital.

HOOVER IN RACE FOR 209 G. O. P. DELEGATES

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Hoover today was definitely in the race to win four states for 186 delegates to the Republican national convention at Kansas City.

This figure will be raised to 209 when plans are carried out to file his name in three other states having 7 delegates.

Further indications that friends of Hoover are not going to let grass grow under their feet in their quest for his Presidential nomination in June were given when they obtained his consent to enter the May 3 primary in California, the state which has the largest number of delegates.

Hoover already had filed in Ohio, where on April 24 he will fight it with Senator Willis. Only a look of 51 delegates; in Maryland, which has 25. He also has definitely decided to enter California, the home state, with 29 delegates; New Jersey, with 21, and Oregon, with 12.

McCado and Creel on the Walsh Ticket in California
San Francisco, March 9 (AP)—The Walsh for President boom came to life in California today as a group of 75 delegates, headed by William G. McCado, met in the field in behalf of the Montana Senator.

The movement secured a triumph in the primary fight in the presidential primary May 3 to name delegates to the national convention. Organizations supporting Governor Smith of New York and Senator Reed of Missouri previously had taken root in the California field.

The personnel of the Walsh ticket as announced by J. O. Davis, chairman of the northern California section of the group, contained the names of McCado, Kathleen, the writer, and George Creel, author and head of the government's wartime information bureau.

Government scientists will leave Honolulu on the coast survey ship Guide about April 1. While the expedition is aimed primarily at locating the numerous small islands accurately for mapping purposes, it is anticipated that important data on earthquakes and other geological subjects will be obtained.

"George" Must Take Tips on Pullmans as Heretofore

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Tips to sleeping car porters are still legal.

The Interstate Commerce Commission today dismissed a complaint of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters against the Pullman Company, which sought to end the practice of having sleeping car attendants take a portion of their wage in the gratuities of the traveling public.

The petition sought an order against the Pullman Company, which would have at least hampered the continuance of the tipping custom.

"Pullman passengers are under no legal obligation to pay more than the scheduled charges," the decision said. "We are referred to no law which prohibits tipping of Pullman porters."

DODE BOYER NOW HAS A NAME AND MOTHER

Detroit, March 9 (AP)—Four-year-old Dode Alfred Boyer today not only had a legal name and a legal mother, but also a legal home. His heretofore nomadic life, however, remained in doubt.

The child became a legal resident of the United States when Mrs. Myron L. Boyer obtained a visa permitting his legal entry into the country, following adoption of the child by Mrs. Boyer, who had formerly represented him to her husband as their son.

EXPECT TO GET $4 AFOAT BY MARCH 20

Providence, March 9 (INS)—Final preparations have been completed for the raising of the submarine 84 and it is expected by naval officers on duty on the salvage operations that the submarine will be brought to the surface by March 25.

There are still eight bodies left in the 84, six of them the bodies of the men who died a lingering death after nearly 100 hours in the forward torpedo compartment 103 feet below the surface.

The submarine will be towed from this harbor by the Charleston Navy Yard by the naval tug Baginone and Wabank. The submarine will not be opened until it has been brought to the navy yard, according to present plans.

The route taken by the tug boats will be around the Cape and will take approximately twelve hours. The shorter route across the bay would take about four hours but it is thought that the danger of losing the submarine through a leaky pontoon or other accident was instrumental in deciding the naval officers to take the longer route.

The submarine will be examined by a naval board of inspection at the Charleston Navy Yard and any messages left by the men who died in the forward torpedo compartment will be sought.

TO REGULATE THE NATIONAL BLOOD STREAM

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, March 8.—Barring unforeseen action by Congress within three weeks, the United States will undertake for the first time in world history to fix by law the ingredients of the national blood stream.

The ultimate aim of the new policy, as defined in the existing immigration act, will be to re-establish the same proportions of foreign stock as were found in the country at the first census, in 1790.

The new policy will be proclaimed by President Coolidge April 1 unless Congress again authorizes postponement.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Never before in history, according to state department ethnologists, has a people undertaken to determine by law the content of the blood of future generations.

The new quotas will limit immigration to 155,485 persons annually, against the present maximum of 164,000.

The principal effect of the new formula, however, will be a violent shifting of quotas of the various countries of Europe—with a view to preserving the dominance of the English strain in the ratio as existing in the Federal Constitution in 1790.

THE NEW QUOTAS

The new quotas based on those studies reveal that the melting pot law now in force must always contain at least 45 per cent British stock.

The relation between the old and new quotas is indicated by the following comparative table:

COUNTRY	OLD	NEW
Great Britain	62,584	62,584

HAPGOOD GOING BACK TO WORK IN THE MINES

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 9 (AP)—Fowens Hapgood, at liberty on bail after spending five days in the Lehigh County prison, is ready to go back to the mines if his job is still open for him.

He intends to work by day and continue at night to organize the anthracite mine workers into his "save-the-union" committee, an outgrowth of the feud that has split the ranks of the United Mine Workers, and re-entitled in the slaying of four men.

Hapgood and his wife, formerly Mary Donovan of Boston, were arrested last Sunday on a charge of instigating a riot when they attempted to hold a public meeting in defiance of regulations laid down by city officials.

They were released on bail yesterday, but not until Judge Ben R. Jones had relined their original bond from $1000 to $2500 on the riot charge.

The court also struck a surprise note by placing the Hapgoods under an additional $2500 to keep the peace. The peace bond was presented by the defendants and their counsel, but the court remained adamant.

A surety company furnished bonds totalling $16,000.

WALSH FILES BILL GIVING WAR VETS PREFERENCE

Washington, March 8.—Contractors and subcontractors engaged in public works for the Government, the building of post offices, army barracks, veterans' hospitals and such enterprises will be required to give first preference to discharged service veterans living within the State where the work is being performed, and second preference to American citizens within the State, and a third preference to any American citizen—alien ranking last, by the terms of a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts.

A similar measure is pending in the House, filed by Congressman Bacon of New York.

As a change from potatoes everybody should eat more Macaroni

Dr. Daniel R. Hodgson writes: "Macaroni contains about twice as much muscle building food as potatoes, between five and six times as much heat producing food and has more than four times as much food value as potatoes for the same weight."

*What is said here about Macaroni applies with equal force to Spaghetti.

Henry Mueller says—

"Every day of the week 100,000 families sit down to table and eat some Mueller's Macaroni, Spaghetti or Egg Noodles. Every one of them buys Mueller's in preference to some other kind which costs a few cents less. Isn't it reasonable to assume that they find the difference in quality worth a little more?"

NEW AND ELABORATE HOTEL FRONTING OCEAN FOR PALM BEACH IS RUMOR, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice and Wife, Now Part and Parcel of the Innermost Palm Beach Set, Soon to Erect Handsome Villa

PALM BEACH, FLA., MARCH 9—DAME RUMOR IS SPENDING A SEASON IN PALM BEACH. SHE IS daily for an interlude in this salubrious environment. And as is the case when the much quoted matron is about, from her never to be ignored tongue bits of gossip drop. This time Dame Rumor is making an interesting forecast of change from the old established way. A change vastly interesting to those for whom elaborateness and new environment are the ingredients that spice the social existence.

TO THOSE HABITUATED INTO PLEASANT WAYS LINKED WITH OLD ASSOCIATION, HOWEVER, Dame Rumor's tidings have no charm. And this is the question, what will Palm Beach mean to its devotees, those staunch adherents who have been Palm Beach visitors for these many years, if and when a new Hotel Royal Poinciana is set up in a new ocean front location? I say if and when because Dame Rumor's interesting tidbit about the Poinciana contains both those brief but significant words. There is a magnificent water front situation where a magnificent new hotel might go up. And then, in contrast, there is the fine old Poinciana, which is a change imminent in another year or two?

THE SCHEME HAS MANY ALLURING ANGLES. Alluring to those, as I say, who adore change and ever seek the environment most elaborate. The new Breakers is the last word in princely splendor. It will might be the castle of a Spanish grandee with its beauties of appointment, its patios, its fountains and terraces; its tapestries, frescoes and old world richness. Add to this another enormous hostelry, equally well appointed. Add a casino fronting on a stretch of shining sands sacred to the usage of hotel guests and there will be a splendid resort, a beach and ocean rivaling and even surpassing a Monte Carlo in its vivid beauty.

AND ON THE OTHER HAND, WHAT OF THE Royal Poinciana that fills its very own niche in the Palm Beach position. For many years it has provided its extraordinary length along the Lake Worth shore. Its habitues have flocked to it each season, and left it with regret, always vowing to return again. Its place in Palm Beach cosmopolitanism is quite its own, not to be usurped by the newer hostelry, however superiorly imposing they may be. It's a Palm Beach institution, and as such has a record sufficiently satisfying. The passing of the Poinciana would leave a void. So let us hope that Dame Rumor's little tale is not so true as it is interesting.

ALTHOUGH, STRICTLY SPEAKING, DR. AND MRS. ALEXANDER HAMILTON RICE are not Bostonians, nevertheless the Hub city, in its social circles, feels that the globe-trotting doctor-explorer and his handsome spouse belong somewhat to Boston. They are part and parcel of the innermost Palm Beach set. Their pleasantly-appointed household rises serenely on the tip of Lake Worth and is their home in the tropic resort. Their Palm Beach life is a life of ease, though not, of course, as elaborate, as affairs at beautiful Miramar in Newport, but eagerly accepted nevertheless.

WHETHER IN NEWPORT OR PALM BEACH, MRS. RICE adds her very considerable attractiveness to the picture. One sees her in daytime frocks designedly simple, at the Bath and Tennis Club of a morning, where it is the thing to take luncheon al fresco and, also, esters. An afternoon at the Everglades, for tea, and Mrs. Rice wears perhaps a flowered skirt or hand-drawn silk, each frock worn with its furrow wrap for beauty as well as warmth. An evening at the beach club and Mrs. Rice is Palm Beachy agglitter with many diamonds.

BELIEVE DAME RUMOR IS ALSO BUSY WITH THE RICE. SHE says they may acquire a Palm Beach domicile and thus become definitely a part of the villa colony that, so to speak, comes out of the full richness of the social sunshine only after the hotel habitues have packed up and gone away. A Palm Beach villa, added to beautiful Miramar, which is a Newport showpiece, is easily within the scope of the Rice purse, which is of Midas-like depth and magic replenishment.

QUITE DEFINITELY OF BOSTON'S SELECT IS THAT ATTRACTIVE Palm Beach resident, Mrs. Reginald Boardman. And also of the conservative villa colony, too. Mrs. Boardman wears her frocks with credit to herself and to her modesty. And always they are the essence of simplicity. At the Everglades, for tea and dancing in the orange garden, Mrs. Boardman in rose silk, hand drawn and pleated, and destined to look upon. Her small but sported a rolling, rippling, brim, that was slashed and folded back in the sweet mood.

SINCLAIR PAYS VISIT TO FALL

El Paso, Tex., March 9 (AP)—Arriving for the announced purpose of inspecting oil properties, Harry F. Sinclair conferred with Albert B. Fall at the latter's home for the first time since their estrangement at Washington on charges of criminal conspiracy in connection with the leasing of Teapot Dome resulted in a mutual November, last. Sinclair said the former secretary of interior was in better health than he had expected to find him. While they declined to comment on the scheduled reopening of the conspiracy trial April 2, Dr. H. V. Bedford, Mr. Fall's physician, said "It doesn't look as if Mr. Fall will be strong enough to return to Washington for the trial." Sinclair announced he planned to visit the West Texas oil holdings and probably would visit Mexico to permit exploration projects there. He will be accompanied by E. A. Watts, of New York, who is in charge of the Sinclair Company Cuban operations.

A few moments devoted to reading of the cards of the merchants below and shopping visit to the district will enlightening and money saving in its possibilities.

To entire needs of any household found within the narrow confines shown on the map on this page—furniture, household equipment, clothing for men, women and children, and foodstuffs of the world.

The group of buildings in this area will contain a Modern Hotel of 1000 rooms—one of the largest in the United States, seating capacity of 18,000—a modern office building.

The new North Station will be the focus for thousands of people every day. About 80,000 people a day or 26,000,000 per year pass through this station.

FOLLOW THE MAP

It will lead you through Haymarket Square to busy Canal Street or North Washington Street, where furniture stores abound with their attractive displays at money saving prices and many other representative lines. Better still, follow the ads as they appear on this page grouped together as they are not accessible to the buyer. They all point to representative firms. The same applies to Portland and Friend streets, with Canal and North Washington, led directly northward to Causeway street fronting the North Station. Easy to reach and eager to serve are all the merchants who invite your trade in the coming below.

Causeway street, passing directly in front of station and its neighboring Lowell street, have a justly earned reputation as centers of retail trade in women's wear. Some of the largest fur stores and women's ready-to-wear are to be found on these streets—all operating on a low real basis. "Bargains for the women" could well be adopted as a slogan for these busy merchants.

Along these streets you will find cut prices in close-out of Winter stocks and most attractive showings of new Spring dresses, coats, millinery and shoes. All proud to fit most any purse. Saturday is always a bargain day on Causeway and Lowell streets.

Always ask for transfers to North Station---never any extra fare from any point on Boston El. Come Saturday and every day to save money and for prompt and courteous service.

Plenty of parking space on many of the streets in this section. Many garages to serve you. Out of town buyers coming in by So. Station take El. trains to North Station directly in front of So. Station.

Comar is already in wonderful shape but will keep going at it until next Tuesday. He is a believer in working two hours a day and has sent out a hurry call for as many extra trainers as for three months fans have been waiting for a match that could mark a new era since coming to Boston. "I have never seen him so excited," says Stocher.

There is a lot of confidence in the odds to defeat Lewis. This is the chance a Lethibian wrestler had at a World's wrestling title. The Lethibian would have to win the Lethibian title, be crowned champion and then be crowned champion of the world.

Stocher says he "looks better than ever." In the last five years he has stepped his first given on the mat. He has lost weight and has a surprise weight in all gone. He conditioned himself for his match with Stocher as never before. "I think that match has taken away the fear of himself. He is not afraid of anyone," Stocher says. "He will win and will take no chances. It is going to be a great match. It is going to be the right for this encounter." The match is scheduled for a given time, but the big day is yet to be seen.

It now works appears to be light and it cannot help being of great benefit to the girls, but it is not long before actual boxing is to become as great a part of physical training in girls' schools as among those for men.

But there is one thing about women's boxing that is not so good. It is boxing that can be said to have the same sense of fair play as that which is found in the boxing of men.

The class of woman fans, too, is going to be higher. The influence of the leaders of society have taken on a new character. They are more business and the display of gowns and jewels at a big bout now rivals the display of gowns and jewels at a ball.

The interest of women is reflected in the fact that the average woman is a very boxer. But few of them in any more gay dress being "first class" than the average man.

Do You Live in a House of Mirrors? Asks Mme. Jeritza

By Maria Jeriza

WE are all of us familiar with the adage, "Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones." The same logic applies in favor of a glass house, even though its occupants may, at first, feel a little uncomfortable.

Living in a glass house comes with its own set of challenges. One of the most significant is the lack of privacy. In a glass house, everyone's business is public knowledge. This can be both a blessing and a curse. On the one hand, it allows for a high level of transparency and accountability. On the other hand, it can be a source of constant stress and anxiety.

Another challenge is the lack of control. In a glass house, you have no control over what is said or done. This can be a source of frustration, especially if you are not involved in the decision-making process. However, it can also be a source of empowerment, as you are always aware of what is going on around you.

Despite these challenges, living in a glass house can be a rewarding experience. It allows for a high level of transparency and accountability, which can be a source of pride and satisfaction. It also allows for a high level of control, as you are always aware of what is going on around you.

If you are considering living in a glass house, it is important to weigh the pros and cons carefully. While there are many challenges, there are also many benefits. Ultimately, the decision is yours to make.

Mr. Ford Opens a School

Fortunate Its Thirty Pupils

It is a great and a noble work which Mr. Henry Ford has begun this week near Wayside Inn in Sudbury, the "making of men."

What manner of men? "Men well rounded out, with a full capacity for enjoying life through producing the essential things of life."

Mr. Ford calls it Wayside Inn Trade School. Its students number 30. They have been selected by Mr. Richard K. Conant of Lincoln, commissioner of public welfare.

These boys are State wards. The course is for four years and they will remain at the school the year around. At the conclusion of the course, if they so desire, they may continue their studies at the Henry Ford Trade School in Detroit. At Sudbury, in the meantime:

Academic subjects will be supplemented by courses in agriculture and the mechanic arts.

The boys will be taught to prepare foods, from the sowing of the seed to the serving of the finished product on the table.

They will grow cereals, grind the grain in a water-driven grist mill and bake the bread to be used at the school and at Wayside Inn.

They will learn the business of making textiles from the care and shearing of sheep to the weaving of cloth.

Agriculture and horticulture will be important parts of the curriculum.

Among the subjects to be taught will be preparation of the soil, sowing the seed, growing and harvesting the crop, dairying, poultry-raising and marketing.

Woodworking will be taught from sawmill to finishing shop.

Plumbing and construction are on the list of subjects.

The boys will do their own housework. They will be paid a wage large enough to keep them well clothed, provide for their board, and "have something left." They are NOT to have the feeling that this is a "charitable institution."

Situated on rising ground overlooking a lake, the Buckley Howe homestead is a beautiful place. As they enter, the students find themselves in a reception room. On the right is a classroom, with seats and desks for 38 pupils.

The dormitories are on the second floor. Each boy is to have his own bed and his own dresser. There is one room for four boys, two rooms for six boys each and a larger room with accommodations for 14.

What does Mr. Ford mean by all this? HE must know, as all will agree, that there are one hundred and thirty boys who would be glad to embrace such an opportunity.

Our guess is that the man who brought America out upon the highway is here opening up new avenues to Education, that he is quietly but effectively engaged upon a preachment, not to the Favored Thirty at Sudbury so much as to teachers and parents everywhere.

THIS SCHOOL may develop into a bigger thing than the engine.

Two Do 60 Men's Work

This Potato Digger Predicts the Future

DIGGING POTATOES, WITH TWO MEN DOING THE WORK OF SIXTY MEN

Study this machine, if you are interested in the future and the potato. It tells the story of what IS TO BE.

This giant labor saving potato digger was invented and built by Zuckerman Brothers for their potato ranch at Stockton, California.

On the left, moving along slowly, is the digger, digging three rows of potatoes at a time. That is heavy digging, for Zuckerman Brothers grow the heaviest crops of potatoes produced anywhere.

As the potatoes are dug they move up through a spout and are delivered to a wagon hauled behind a smaller tractor, on the right.

One man drives the potato digger, one drives the tractor that hauls the wagon and potatoes.

In the old way, even with comparatively modern agricultural tools, it would take sixty men to do the work done by these two men.

Thus a well planned machine, plus a little gasoline, saves the labor of fifty-eight men and makes possible farming on a gigantic scale and a PROFITABLE scale.

The problem of farmers is the problem of the country. They feed the nation and are the basis of prosperity. Wealth they produce, running into billions every year, enriches the country, but leaves the farmers as a rule poor and dissatisfied from year to year.

The trouble is that the farmer's work has not been organized as industry has been organized.

ABOUT the last leaf has fallen from the noxious plant of human slavery. This institution was called by John Wesley "the sum of all villainies."

It has its roots deep in the past. The Egyptians made slaves of the Israelites and it was the custom of every nation in ancient times to make slaves of their victims or their prisoners.

We commonly think of ancient Greece as a republic, but it was only a republic to a few free men superimposed upon a vast body of helots.

The Romans, also, had their slaves, and it was the custom of the Barbary pirates to enslave the captive Christians.

The United States went through a tremendous cataclysm, the fundamental cause of which was the existence of human slavery. Abraham Lincoln gained the title of the Great Emancipator by his decree freeing the slaves in this country.

History presents a new warfare between the human conscience and the institution of slavery. The gain has been slow, but conscience has won.

Now in Sierra Leone, Africa, all of the slaves are free. This occurred with the opening of the New Year. Nearly two hundred and fifty thousand domestic slaves were made the political equals of their masters.

This was largely due to Lady Simon, wife of Sir John Simon, a British statesman.

That many of the slaves are bewildered and do not know what to do with their freedom, but will go on serving their old masters, shows that emancipation or liberty does not come from the submerged masses up, but comes from the free classes downward.

It will naturally take a long while and it will require generations yet to come for a race that has been enslaved to accustom itself to liberty. That they were not prepared for liberty goes without saying, but the best preparation for freedom is freedom, just as the best cure for democracy is democracy.

Slowly but surely this old world is climbing up into the light. Those who stand upon the shore can hardly observe the process of the tides, but if you go away and come back after a few hours you can see that the level of the waters has changed.

LISTEN, WORLD!

IT'S hard to know what's right to do, these days. So many of the old standards have proved futile; so much of the old wisdom now seems foolish, or actually harmful. We're forced to make new codes to fit our altered conditions and our deeper knowledge of the human spirit. And we're hard on a tough time doing it.

Here come Allen and Dorothy, for example. What's their right for them? They're respectable cultured people in their early thirties—good parents, neighbors and citizens—both married, not tragically, but ungenerally; both have children—and they're fallen in love with each other. Suddenly a plumed friendship of years has flamed to desire. There's no doubt that real love has come to these two. But what are they going to do about it?

They wish to get divorces and seek happiness together. "It's our right," they cry. "All those old ideas of sacrifice were wrong. Love is heavenest. It's cowardly to waste your life, just because people will talk. It's more honest and brave to take love openly—there's a right to happiness!"

A right to happiness?—Have they? They have, indeed.

We cannot gain life by running away from it. Fulfillment never came through self-denial. There is a greater good than self-denial. There is a nobler reason for our souls than this thing we call "sacrifice."

Something more important than self-denial is to be gratified—something more important than to be gratified is to be gratified.

There is a greater Self which looms behind all our individual personalities and above all our dusty little selfishness and survives the fretting and the melting of our little storm.

There is a greater profit than that offered to any man!

Some call this selfishness, but I call it wisdom.

Small, personal visions? Of their greatness and grandeur.

That stern word sacrifice is of use to them in these sensitive days. We think of sacrifice as a martyrdom and epitome of its best—a crime against the ego at its worst. But sacrifice is the giving of oneself.

Nothing makes life in that bargain. Give up your little plan and take your place in a greater scheme of things. Give up your little self and give up your little vision of happiness and give up your little selfishness and give up your little storm.

There is a greater profit than that offered to any man!

Some call this selfishness, but I call it wisdom.

PARIS, March 9—France needs to learn more than any civilized country the one thing it will not accept, and that is discipline. If a gentleman would be foolish enough, for instance, to order a sidewalk crossed to move on, he would get a tongue lashing that would send him back to gendarmes "tout arrest."

The citizens of France glory in the belief of public property belong to them. It is inherent. There are few "Keep Off the Grass" signs. They picnic and play in the public parks and dance in the streets and kick football in places de la Concorde.

Strictly speaking, there are no auto speed laws or traffic regulations and chauffeurs will take the police if they feel any sense of restriction.

They are not afraid of the police when you wait to get out of a police station. Tyranny had its sequel in the bloody revolution and the ruling class has always that fruitful picture before them, and are cautious.

The French have a saying: "Plus que ça change, plus c'est la même chose"—the more it changes, the more it is the same thing. That is largely responsible for the fact France never changes; that it clings to new laws and its architecture and customs are the same.

All these liberties are accepted as freedom, when as a matter of fact, they show up national proverbs. They show intolerance—love of play—and the false sense of life is a false sense of life. A drunken man is he is hauled at. After all drinking is a serious business here.

He is to be in the gutter he is taken to a police station, but is not sent to prison. He is merely arrested on a bench to sleep off his sag.

It is amusing to watch the dilatory efforts of a French workman. He does not seem to work at all. He merely waits a painter today in a dressing room for an hour. He smoked a cigarette, listened to the ladies chatter, winked at a maid who stood off and gazed at the door. He was painting a picture of the wood, went to the window and looked out at the street. He would like to hire out as his helper.
